ROPING RICHARDS.

The Winchester Independent of Saturday gives the following particulars of the lynching of Anderson Richards, last Tuesday:

By 9 o'clock the town was full of men, and at 10 o'clock the crowd demanded and, by force, took the keys of the jail from D. H. Gilson, jailor, notwithstanding he resisted to his utmost ability. Deputy Sheriff Howard took his stand at the jail door and forbid the infuriated crowd from entering the jail. He, however, was taken in charge and held until the jail doors were unlocked, when Mr. Truitt, the injured husband, and others, entered the jail, placed a rope around the negro's neck and led him out and started out of town with him, and in the pasture near the river road, one mile west of town, at about 10½ o'clock a. m., hoisted the prisoner at the end of the rope, and it over a limb, where he hung suspended in the air till about 12 m., at which time he was cut down and placed in a wagon and brought to town, put in a coffin and sent to the county farm and buried by A. C Brown. The number in attendance at the hanging was supposed to be 1,000. The prisoner was allowed ten minutes to talk, but he had but little to say, generally evading all proper questions. This is said not to be the first act of the kind, similar charges lay at his door at Jacksonville, where he formerly resided.

Everything about town in the afternoon of that day, was as quiet as a lamb. We heard of no one but expressed his or their assent at what had been done by the injured parties, or their friends. It was one of those cases wherein the law was not adequate in its punishment, and entirely too slow, even if the punishment by law had been adequate. It was an act of the people, therefore it was law and justice, made to overtake the guilty, while, his crime was fresh before his eyes. Our county and people may be censured for this rash act, as it will be termed by some. We trust even should that be the case, that at least the good people of this section of country will appreciate the beneficial effect of this day's work inflicted upon such a brute.

The injured lady, Mrs. Truitt, is lying in a critical condition and fears are entertained that she may not survive the terrible shock.

QUIPS

Mrs. Hickman, of Hickman, Ky., has five pair of twins. She must be the original "Twinkle, twinkle, little star."

When the industrious farmer makes sause out of a pig's ears and ham out of his hind legs, he is literally making both ends meat

Minnie, the colored cadet, has arrived at West Point. It is to be hoped he will be favorably heard from there, and will not be the minimum of cadets.

Just see how contagious is the human desire to get something for nothing. Suloiman Pasha made such persistent efforts to get Sobipka Pass that half his army became dead-heads.

Gen Howard got near enough to Joseph the other day to shake a tract at him, but that agile warrior immediately shook about 500 tracks in the face of his partner, and once more he is as seldom as ever.

"Tough follows, these Turkish Generals," remarked Mr. Middlerib, in the South Hill street car the other day. "Of course," replied his friend, "they are all pachydermata." Then the driver came in and told the gentlemen there were ladies aboard and he couldn't permit any more such language.

The telegraph says "Osman Pasha is in an awkward position." He has probably got two thirds into his shirt before he has ascertained that it is buttoned at the neck.

Worth Its Weight in Gold.

Undoubtedly the greatest modern discovery in medicine is DaCosta's Radical Cure for dyspepsia, sick headache, sour stomach, costiveness, biliousness, loss of appetite, distress after eating, and all disorders caused by indigestion or a deranged liver. Its RESULTS ARE ASTONISHING, and sure relief is guaranteed in every case where it is faithfully used. It tones up the stomach, regulates the liver, restores the natural appetite, strengthens the delicate and expels all morbid humors from the system. Typhoid and bilious fever might, in almost every case, be prevented by its timely use. Trial size 25 cents.—A very few, doses will relieve, and a little perseverance relieve you.

DURFEE'S ORCHARD

A Safe Place

To keep out of in future. By giving everybody apples who have taken the pains to ask for them, I have hoped in time people would quit breaking down and cutting holes in my hedge, which I am endeavoring to make ornamental as well as useful—but as even honest grangers and delicate females, in addition to damage done the fence, do not hesitate to carry off apples by the bag full—I have at length been compelled to adopt measures that may prove uncomfortable to fruit thieves; to whom, as well as everybody else not wishing to be classed with them, I give this kindly warning to keep out of my orchard, entirely; and if you have not 5 cents to buy of any fruit stand, all the apples you want to eat, call at my house and get them for the asking. And if you want to avoid trouble don't forget this invitation.

It is Generally Admitted that there cannot be anything more exquisitely delicate for perfuming the handkerchief than MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER, but its great and distinctive property is its adaptability to the uses of the bath. It is the only perfume that we know of ESPECIALLY AND PARTICULARLY suited to use in this way; the power it has of imparting to the waters of the bath great soothing, refreshing and invigorating effects, is peculiar to itself.

Tuesday Evening, Sept. 18.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican voters of the several townships of Macon county are requested to elect delegates to a county convention, to be held at the Court House, in Decatur on at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of County Clerk, County Treasurer, County Judge and County Superintendent of Schools, and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

The several townships and voting districts will be entitled to the following number of delegates, being one for each 50 votes, and one for each fraction of 25 votes over 50 votes of the vote cast for Hayes, to-wit:

Decatur—1st district, 8; 2nd district, 6; 3rd district, 5; 4th district, 4; Austin, 2; Blue Mound, 2; Friends Creek, 3, Hickory Point, 2; Harristown, 2; Hill, 2, Long Creek, 2; Milford, 1; Maroa, 3; Mt. Zion, 3; Macon, 3; Niantic, 2, Oakley, 2; Pleasant View, 2 Wheatland 1, 3; Whitmore, 3—Total, 81.

By order of the County Central Committee.
LOUIS A. BARNES, Secty.

THE Clerk of the House of Representatives figures up a Democratic majority of eleven in the next House.

S. S. SMITH, (the Greenback sage of Kewanee), writes to the Chicago Tribune to deny the statement of Phocion Howard, of the Tuscola Review, that his Farm had been sold under mortgage.

KIMBALL heads one of his columns "The Growler"—just as though that were necessary. Nothing but a waste of display type.

IT is rumored at Salt Lake that John W. Young is about to take a new wife, in the person of Luella Cobb, whose mother is one of Brigham's widows. Luella is about 17 years old.

SPENCER, the runaway president of the Chicago State Savings Bank, was very considerate. He left $1.79 to his own credit. The first thing the assignee knows he will be writing back for it from some place in Europe where we have no extradition treaty.

NILES G. PARKER, State Treasurer of South Carolina from 1868 to 1872, has made what the Democratic papers call "a clean breast of it," and has told a story of his experience in South Carolina politics which involves Governor Chamberlain and many other prominent Republicans in the grossest frauds. Governor Chamberlain, has been interviewed, and pronounces Parker's story false, and says he is ready to face his accusers at any time. He also shows that the story is an old one, the charges having been made against him at divers times in the State. We are very ready to believe Governor Chamberlain, first because whatever else may be said against him no dishonest act has ever been traced to his door, and, secondly, because during his last administration the people of all parties united in proclaiming his strict integrity. The Democratic party particularly is estopped from repeating these charges, for, with the facts before them, they indorsed Chamberlain's acts, and came within a few votes of nominating him for Governor. We venture to predict that the story, so far as he is concerned, will be found without foundation. And "false in one false in all."—Inter Ocean.

IT is quite possible that President Hayes will be placed before long in the lamentable condition of a well-meaning public man sadly in need of salvation from his friends. At present he has nothing to fear from his enemies, if, indeed, a good square enemy is not the only real luxury which he is not allowed to enjoy. He is, however, in real danger from his friends. This thought occurs to us especially on reading the laudation of the President by Wade Hampton, and the laudation of Wade Hampton by such newspapers as the Chicago Tribune and the Cincinnati Commercial. Mr. Hampton made a speech at Rockford, Ill., the other day, in which he lauded the President and his policy; but he did much more than this. On the tumult of applause created by the announcement that throughout the South, thanks to the "policy," everything was now lovely, he took occasion to float a little of the doctrine of State sovereignty so dear to the Carolina heart. Said he, speaking to the veteran volunteers of Illinois, "I did as you did, I stood by my State." And the Cincinnati Commercial and the Chicago Tribune hasten to praise the speech as a whole, and Mr. Hampton goes home to tell his people how joyfully the new application of the doctrine of State rights was received in Illinois. If poor old Dick Yates were living, how he would protest against such an interpretation of the rush to the front which he organized in the early days of the rebellion. He, at least, could tell of a time when the soldier boys of Illinois did not "stand by their State." It was in 1862, when Democrats of Mr Hampton's stripe got possession of the Legislature at Springfield, and tried to make Illinois an ally of South Carolina in the work of rebellion.—Globe Democrat.

HOME INFLUENCES.

Indianapolis Journal.

If it be true in general, as a celebrated writer has said, that "the strength of a nation is in the intelligent and well ordered homes of the people," it is especially true of a republican nation. Family government is the germ of all government, and other things being equal, that nation will be the happiest and best governed where the true idea of the family exists in its highest and best development. It is here that children—the future citizens and sovereigns of a nation—get their first lessons in self control and imbibe their first ideas of justice, of the enforcement of law and discipline, of the rights of property, and, in fact, of nearly all the principles which lie at the foundation of good government. It has been shrewdly said that if a man were permitted to write the songs of a nation he need not care who made its laws; but this is an insignificant power compared with that of shaping and moulding the minds of the young at that period of life when all impressions are deep and lasting. It follows that the question how to construct a well ordered home, one in which the ideas of discipline and government shall be happily blended with those of attractiveness and enjoyment, is one of great importance in a social and political point of view. A home without discipline and government is a mere boar garden, while one without attractions is something much worse. These two ideas, love for home and respect for home government and parental authority, should go hand in hand in the formation of the model American home. How to enforce discipline without making home repulsive or irksome, how to make it delightful and attractive without relaxing discipline, is a problem in statesmanship which parents have to solve, and which is quite as difficult and important over presented in congress or cabinet. American ideas on this subject have undergone a great change during the last generation or two. Fathers, as a general rule, are not so stern as they used to be, and home government not nearly so rigid. Parents are more companions for their children. This is an admirable and commendable change within certain limits, but if it pass the point of enforcing respect and administering family government with a firm and steady hand, bad results most surely follow. Experienced school teachers say they can tell by the conduct of pupils at school whether they are accustomed to good home government. If children are not taught obedience and submission to law in early life it will go hard with them to learn it later, and they may never fairly acquire the habit. The same may be said of other habits equally necessary to the formation of good citizens, as honesty, truthfulness, temperance, etc. All these and many other principles of equal importance must be learned, if learned at all, at the hearth stone, which may therefore with strict propriety be termed the school of statesmanship and the nursery of national strength and greatness. But in order to secure for home its greatest influence and its true position in the economy of life it must be made attractive. Thus only can it be made the rallying place of the affections. To make home so pleasant that every member of the family shall prefer it to any other place, constitutes along with the idea of family government the very perfection of a true home. A great change for the better in this regard has taken place within the last generation or two. Mere utilitarianism is less regarded and and the esthetic idea has far greater recognition than formerly. To beautify her home and render it attractive is now one of the chief delights of every intelligent American woman. On the whole, there is reason to believe that the home sentiment was never more powerful for good than it is at present, and that the average American home is approaching nearer and nearer to the true ideal.

A QUEER FREAK.

Brigham Young's Alleged Mother Declared to be Bogus.

The woman near Martinsville, Indiana, who claims to be the mother of Brigham Young, is flatly contradicted by Dr. J. P. Barnum, of Louisville, who says that himself and Brigham Young were raised in the same county, near Lansing, New York, though the doctor was not born when Brigham left that county and went west. He says that Mrs. Young died when Brigham was about fifteen years of age, and that he has often seen her grave, which is situated on Ben. Wegger's farm near Lansing, and only a few miles from his old home. From the old people in the neighborhood Dr. Barnum says he gathered a great deal of information of the boy Brigham and his mother. Having left the country soon after the death of his mother, he became a wanderer and adventurer; but during his mother's life he was remembered as a very studious, industrious boy, and very much devoted to his mother. The family being very poor, he devoted most of his time to hunting and fishing for their support. One of his great characteristics was his taciturnity. He held himself aloof from the boys of his own age, and seemed to care for nothing but to study and to work for his mother.

SENATOR BOOTH said in a recent stump speech: "My friends, you must remember, that, outside of yourself and myself, and your friends and my friends, and your wife and the woman I hope to marry, there is not absolute, entire, and immaculate perfection in more than 8,000 or 10,000 people, even in this very virtuous town."

HOW THE SHOOTERS SHOOT.

N. Y. Tribune.

Gen. Dakin was the first man to shoot, making a center, counting him 4. He was followed by Jackson, Hyde, Weber, Allen and Bruce, and again shot before the first shot was fired on the other side. Rigby was the first man to shoot for the British, at 11:24, and, as he lay on his back, with his gun resting in the V formed by his crossed legs, Sir Henry Halford stood with his eyes riveted on the target until the smoke from his rifle announced that the bullet had sped away, and the next moment the white disc appeared, indicating that he had made a bull's eye. Then the team captain's face lit up with a smile of satisfaction, and immediately after, "What's the windage?" "Give us your elevation," was asked and demanded, and the marksman following benefitted by the response. Sir Henry Halford was the second marksman to score for his side, making a center, counting him four only. He shoots from the "Fulton" position, which is lying on the back, supporting his head at the proper elevation with the left forearm, the left hand grasping the butt of the rifle, while the barrel rests in the V formed by the legs. Lieut. Fenton followed with an inner, counting. His position is called the 'prone," which is lying on the stomach, with the body supported by the elbows. The position, favorable for detecting the slightest fluctuation in the wind, is uncomfortable, and is not recommended. Sir Henry Halford and most other scientific marksman, approve of the back position in preference.

As Millner lay on his back—in the Fulton position—his first shot was watched with eager interest by the crowds back of him, and as the white disc came up, recording a bull's eye, applause rang out from along the line. Col. Fenton next shot, from the 'prone' position, and recorded a bull's eye. Humphrey dropped next in the 'prone' position—but which might more properly be called sprawling, as he takes up fully six square feet of space. Immediately after he shot the trap was opened and the danger flag shown. Everybody ran out from the butts to hear the decision of Col. Sanford, who measures every doubtful shot, and is considered very liberal in his decisions. The doubt was soon set at rest, however, by the signal being given of a "miss." Ferguson followed next, shooting from the back position, and obtained a bull's eye. Although the British team fired slowly and with a great deal of precision, Rigby's shooting was much slower than the others, and the advantage which he gained by this can better be confirmed by his good score.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY CONTRASTED.—Evidently, Turkey intends to strain every nerve to repel the Russian invasion, and to close the campaign with some brilliant success. But if defeated, she has left herself nothing to fall back upon. Herein the difference between the two powers is likely to manifest itself. Russia has immense resources, and has not begun to bring into the field the forces that she can command. The reinforcements dispatched to Bulgaria and Armenia constitute no serious drain upon her reserves. She has powers of endurance and recuperation utterly unknown to Turkey, and, if she chose so inglorious a method, could reduce her adversary by the simple process of tiring her out and using her up in detail.—Boston Journal.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

No people in the world suffer as much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heart-burn, Water-brash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, palpitation of the heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, etc., yet since the introduction of Green's August Flower we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. 30,000 dozen sold last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your druggists, A. J. Stoner, B. F. Gue & Son and Theo. Hildebrandt, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular size 75 cents. mayld&wly1

TELEGRAPHIC

HIS RECEPTON AT LOUISVILLE.

Speeches by the President and Others.

GRANT IN SCOTLAND.

The War in the East.

MORE SUCCESSES BY THE TURKS.

LONDON, Sept. 17—Telegraphic delays cause confusion of dates of dispatches from the theater of war, and lead to misinformation. There has been no serious engagement since the defeat of Gen. Skobeleff on Wednesday, in which he lost half his command. The Daily News, strong pro-Russian, thus sums up the morning's intelligence: Looking impartially at the facts presented this morning, we are unable to form any other conclusion than that the attack on Plevna has not only failed, but so failed that it can not be renewed under conditions in which the Russian commander finds himself placed. He has attempted what great German commanders never attempted in their French campaign, and has used up the slight superiority of men with extraordinary rapidity. He is liable to be attacked at any given part of his front by a force larger than any which he can assemble there. In a word he is beaten. The battle reported at Dubuik in which the Russians were said to have been defeated, must have been, if at all, the village five miles northwest of Vratza, on the Rhova road. Reports say Osman Pasha has fortified a position almost impregnable, naturally, at Vratza, on which he will retire if driven from Plevna. Anyhow the Roumanain attempt to cut his communications seem to have failed. Chefvet Pasha, leader in the Bulgarian massacres, has been sent to command Osman Pasha's reserves at Orkanieh and guard his communications, probably, also with a view of keeping eye on Servia.

LONDON, September 17.—The following special is received:

Bucharest, Sunday Night.—Colonel Wolseley has just arrived from the Russian headquarters before Plevna. He reports all quiet. Military operations really closed Wednesday evening, when the Turks recaptured the double redoubt taken by Skobeloff. When the Russian commander in chief could not or would not send re enforcements to hold this redoubt, it was only too evident the attacks were at an end.

An immense proportion of officers were killed or wounded. Only one commander of a regiment is alive, and scarcely a head of battalion is left. Two officers of staff are killed, one of whom was Voradstohagin, brother of the great artist.

A correspondent writes: "I saw Gen. Skobeloff in his tent at night. He was quite calm and collected. He said: 'I have done my best; I could do no more. My detachment is half destroyed; my regiments do not exist; I have not an officer left; I have lost three guns.'"

"Why did they refuse you re enforcements, who was to blame?"

"I blame nobody," he replied, "it was the will of God."

The Russians have not, however, abandoned their position, and do not seem disposed to do so.

Suleiman Pasha has effected a junction with Mehemet Ali. It seems probable their combined forces may attempt something against the army of the Czarowitch, although the Imperial Guard, now arriving rapidly, may put another face of the affair.

The town and Fortress of Bielka have unconditionally surrendered to the Montenegrins.

BOZEMAN, MONT., Sept. 17.—A courier has just arrived from Crow Agency, with an official dispatch from Gen. Sturgis. He says, in substance, the Nez Perces flanked them and proceeded down Clark's Fork. He followed them two days, and came upon them on the Yellowstone, about seven miles below the mouth of Clark's Fork, and fought them nearly all day. He reports that he captured several hundred horses and killed a great many Indians, losing some soldiers.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 17.—A full meeting of citizens irrespective of party, presided over by Mayor Augur, extended an invitation to President Hayes and cabinet to visit Atlanta, and appointed a committee of twenty, with ex Senator Miller as chairman, to meet the party at Chattanooga on next Thursday.

For Sale.—A good frame dwelling with seven rooms, eight closets and pantries, cellar, well, cistern and other improvements. Lot 100 by 150 feet, well filled with bearing fruit trees and vines. Apply at this office.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 17.—The Presidential party arrived at 11:53. President Hayes stood on the platform of the car; to his right was Mrs Hayes, Miss Evarts and others; on his left W. N. Haldeman, Gen. Harlan and others. Gen. E. H. Murray introduced Mayor Jacob, who spoke as follows:

Mr. President:—The people of Louisville, the metropolis of Kentucky, proud of their grand statesman—"Old Harry of the West," who uttered one of the noblest sentiments that ever fell from the lips of mortal man, "I would rather be right than be President"—greet joyously his disciple, that President of the United States who, at a critical period in the history of affairs, had the courage to say: "He serves his party best who serves his country best." Irrespective of party, race or sect, we welcome your Excellency gladly to our homes and bid you God speed in your labor of love, reconciliation and reform.

President Hayes announced, through Mayor Jacob, that he would address the people later in the day.

The President and his escort arrived at the Galt House at 12:40 p. m. His Excellency and Mrs. Hayes were introduced to the people by Gen E. H. Murray. Rev. Stuart Robinson made the welcoming speech, and during the remarks by Dr. Robinson, which were listened to by a vast concourse and frequently met with outbursts of loud and prolonged applause. President and Mrs. Hayes stood side by side on the platform erected from a window of the hotel, facing the multitude.

President Hayes, advancing to respond to Mr. Robinson was greeted by prolonged and loud applause. He devoted some time to mentioning the close relation which Ohio and Kentucky had borne toward each other for many years, their mutual aid of each other in Indian wars, their political preferences for many of the same Presidential candidates. He was frequently applauded.

The President introduced in turn Secretary Evarts, Wade Hampton, Gov. Van Zandt, of Rhode Island, Secretary McCrary, and Judge Key, each of whom spoke briefly.

Secretary Thompson spoke in a pleasant manner and with some jocular remarks, which were greeted with cheers.

Secretary Schurz, in answer to shouts, came forward and paid a glowing tribute to his German fellow citizens and to the President.

The President and visiting governors lunched after speaking, and then, at 3:30, the President was escorted by military to the exposition; the school children scattering bright flowers in his path. On leaving the exposition the President and members of the cabinet proceeded to the house of Mr. Bristow to dinner.

In the evening the party visited the exposition again, when John T. Moore, president of the exposition company, delivered an address of welcome and the President responded briefly. The building was taxed to its uttermost by visitors from the whole country, and enthusiasm was universal.

The reception at the Galt House, to night, was a rarely brilliant affair, and was largely attended. Whenever Mrs Hayes appeared she was heartily cheered.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—General Grant was presented with the freedom of the burgh of Ayr, Scotland.

On Friday, ex-President Grant was presented with the freedom of the burgh of Ayr. In returning thanks he expressed the pleasure it gave him to form so close a connection with the land and home of Burns. Gen. Grant and party will now make a round of the English provincial towns in the order of Newcastle-on-Tyne, York, Sheffield, Birmingham and Leamington, whence they will go to London. They expect to proceed to Paris on the 20th of October, where they will stay six weeks. The will next visit Marseilles and Nice, and then from Genoa they will leave on board an American man-of-war to visit various ports of Spain, Malta, Sicily, Egypt and Turkey. In February the party will go to Naples, where they will stay a fortnight, and afterwards spend a month in Rome; then to Paris, visiting by the way, the principal towns of Italy. Paris will be reached again about the end of April. Here they will remain a month, and afterwards visit Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Austria, and finally visit Switzerland.

Preparations are making at Newcastle on-Tyne to receive Gen. Grant this week. He will arrive on Thursday night, and be the guest of the Mayor. On Friday he will visit various buildings and works in town, General and Magistrates Corporation and the Tyne Commissioners, and proceed down the river on a steamer and there will be a great demonstration at the mouth of the Tyne. There will be a reception in the evening. On Saturday Gen. Grant will visit Elswick Ordnance Works, and then receive addresses from bodies. In the afternoon there will be a demonstration of miners and trades, and in the evening a banquet in the Assembly Rooms. On Monday he will lay the foundation stone of the Free Library and Museum at Sunderland.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 17.—At the late election a constitutional amendment regarding electors, that has not paid a poll tax for two years, legally assessed, shall vote, was defeated by 5,000 majority. An amendment to stop towns from creating debt for railroads, etc., above existing municipal debt of five per cent of valuation, was carried by 5,000.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.

The Interest Increasing—An Immense Crowd at the Court House Last Night—Telling Speeches—The Pledge Signed by many Men and Women.

Last evening as early as seven o'clock the large court-house was nearly full of people, who had gathered to hear the apostles of temperance, Hoofstitler and Rowell, and from that time on the tide of human beings continued to flow into the room until there was no longer room to sit or stand.

About half-past seven the exercises were opened by singing, after which prayer was offered by Rev. W. D. Best. After another song Col. Rowell addressed the meeting for a half hour in an augumentative strain, showing the whisky traffic to be the great evil of the day, and also giving an epitome of its history. In doing so he went back to the bible times, and showed how strong drink was used to carry various points, and cited the case of Haman, who made his king drunk to secure a certain end. So he said in all ages and nations the whisky power had intruded itself into conventions and legislatures, and sought to control their actions, and in many instances had done so.

The views of the speaker were expressed in a clear and forcible manner, though some might think that his opinions were extreme as to the influence of the rum power in controlling the action of conventions. The address received the closest attention of the immense audience, and will have the effect to open the eyes of the people to an investigation of the points which he made.

Following this address was a song or two, after which Mr. Hoofstitler addressed the meeting in his characteristic manner, relating many incidents which had fallen under his observation, showing the wretchedness of those who fall victims to habits of intemperance.—Among these he dwelt at length upon the case of an intimate friend of his, who commenced as a moderate drinker, and finally died with delirium tremens. He spoke of an interview held with this man after the speaker had become a perfect wreck, in which the then moderate drinker expostulated with him as to his course. In reply to which he told his friend, "You will soon be where I am; it is only a question of time." And two years later, on visiting the village where the former moderate drinker lived, he found him reeling through the streets in a state of beastly intoxication. He then went on to relate how the man separated from his wife and children, and how that, after two years of separation, he bore from the wife to her besotted husband miniatures of herself and children, and a message of love, and how that afterward the unfortunate man went down to a drunkard's grave in a fit of delirium tremens.

The recital of this touching incident was most affecting, and moved hundreds in the audience to tears.

At the conclusion of this appeal the pledge was laid upon the table, and a large number—probably more than a hundred—came forward and signed it. Among them we noticed some who have been hard drinkers for some time, and we presume that most if not all of them fully appreciated the step they were taking, and sincerely mean to abstain from drink in the future.

In regard to the movement in general, we may say that the degree of interest awakened at so early a stage of the meetings, is truly wonderful, and presents a sight such as Decatur has not seen for many years. Should the interest increase as it has done in the last three days, no room in the city will hold a tithe of the people who will flock to the meetings. The public seems to be thoroughly aroused, and the excitement seems to reach out among all classes.

While the signing of the pledge was going on several songs were sung, and the large audience seemed inclined to remain to the last.

Another meeting was announced for this evening, at the same place, when doubtless there will be as large a crowd as gathered last evening.

The gentlemen who conduct these meetings seem to be very candid, and their remarks are entirely free from anything like harsh or abusive language, and we hope their visit to the city will be the means of much good.

Still Another.—In our announcement column to-day will be found the name of John T. Montgomery as a candidate for county superintendent of schools, subject to the action of the Republican county convention. Mr. Montgomery has made teaching his business for the last eight years, and has all this time been connected with the schools of Macon county, which gives him a thorough acquaintance with their condition and needs. As a teacher he has been eminently successful and popular, and should he be elected to the county superintendency he would bring to its duties the qualifications essential to their efficient discharge.

MARRIED.

At the residence of Mr. J. H. Park, one mile south of Harristown, Sept. 13th, by Rev. D. E. May, MR. THOMAS B. GRAHAM, of Illiopolis, and MRS. MARY E. MARTIN, of Harristown.

The couple made a splendid appearance. The ceremony and congratulations over, we were introduced into the dining hall, where there were viands in profusion to tempt the appetite, arranged in the most perfect order, and presided over with the greatest ease and dignity by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Park. Everything passed off pleasantly and this was one of the most enjoyable occasions we have witnessed for a long time.

CIRCUIT COURT.

August Term, 1877.

MONDAY, SEPT. 17—AFTERNOON.

Court convened at one o'clock, and empannelled a jury for the next two weeks.

The case of The People vs. Oliver Kincaid, indicted for larceny, was called. The state's attorney proposed to strike the case from the docket, with leave to reinstate. To this defendant's attorney objected, and insisted upon a trial by jury, which was proceeded with at once, the case going to the jury at the hour of adjournment. Verdict of guilty returned.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 18.

Court convened at 8 o'clock.

The case of The People vs. Alman A. Locke and Pardon T. Locke, was called, the charge being obtaining goods under false pretenses. Trial by jury, pending which court adjourned to one o'clock.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. D. H. Claypool, of Niantic, was in the city to-day, and called at the REPUBLICAN office.

Mr. A. G. Benton, of Maroa, paid his respects to the REPUBLICAN office yesterday.

Miss Judd, one of the high school teachers, who has been ill at Normal, returned to the city yesterday, and resumed her place in her classes.

Mr. W. H Linn, of the firm of Linn & Scruggs, has returned from New York, whither he went some time since to purchase goods.

Charlie Barnes will start to-night for Cambridge, Mass., to begin a three years' course of study in the law school of Harvard University.

Hon. Wm. Young and wife, of Pennsylvania, who have been visiting their relatives in and about Decatur, leave to-night for their home, near Philadelphia. Mrs. Young will be remembered by many of our citizens, who knew her before her marriage, as Miss Sallie Sawyer.

Capt. S. M. Lake, chief of the Inspection Division of the Post Office Department, arrived in town last evening, on his annual visit to his brother, J. C. Lake, Esq. Capt. L. is accompanied by his wife and daughter, and by Robert Downing, Esq., a cousin of Judge Greer.

Elder W. B. Allen, pastor of the Bethel congregation in this city, will leave to-morrow for Martinsville, Clark county, this State, to attend the Southern Illinois and Indiana Eldorship of the Church of God, which convenes at that place on to-morrow evening. He will be absent about two weeks, and his pulpit will be supplied during his absence by Elder I. E. Boyer.

A Lucky Fall.—Yesterday a couple of chaps who were evidently not as yet subjects of the temperance revival, got so much benzine down their necks that they took a kind of zigzag course as they perambulated the walks of the city, and when near the location of the old water tank on East Main street, one of them hit his foot against some slight obstruction in the walk which sent him sprawling upon the ground. The interesting feature of the fall was the breaking of a flask which he had in his coat pocket, and which, from the amount spilled, must have been about full. The loss of the whisky seemed to be a sore affliction to them both, for, to use their own language, neither of them had a "red left" with which to get any more. After bewailing their loss for a few moments, they staggered on their way, seriously reflecting, no doubt, upon the uncertainty of earthly things. This was one of those cases in which an affliction was a blessing—temporarily at least.

Arrest for Attempt at Blackmail.—Yesterday Officer Brockway went to Pana for the purpose of arresting James H. Clark, who has figured somewhat in the police courts of the city during the last year under sundry charges. In this case the charge against him is that of attempting to extort money from Mr. Brooker, who is charged with the murder of Sam Dychus, by threatening to testify before the Grand Jury and in court to facts that would tend to convict Brooker of the crime with which he stands charged. This morning he was brought before Justice Peake, but as no one appeared to prosecute, he was discharged. He was, however, soon re-arrested on the same warrant and taken before Justice Albert, where the case was pending at noon.

The First of the Season.—Frost was visible on plank walks to early risers this morning, it being the first of the season. So far as we have been able to learn the freeze was not sufficient to affect vegetation, and the probability is that it will hasten the ripening of corn by checking the growth of the leaves and drying the sap in the stalk.

Strayed, from Caldwell's Livery Stable, a small, bay saddle mare, with white stripe in face, quilted saddle and bridle on. A suitable reward will be paid for her return. *

THE CENTRE OF VITALITY.

The life of the flesh and the brain, the bones and the muscles, is the blood. It is the centre of vitality, the nutriment of the system. Not only must it be pure, but rich, in order to retain health. In the feeble and devitalized, the life current is watery and its circulation sluggish. The muscles of such persons lack solidity, the nerves are weak, the visage haggard, and the eye lustreless. A course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, improves not only the health but the appearance of the debilitated and nervous. Nutrition then becomes complete because digestion receives an impetus from this benignant tonic, which fertilizes the blood, brings back "the rose tint of health" to the wan cheek, brightness to the eye, and gives power of endurance to the muscle. Invalids hasten to use it! deodw1.
